Core Collection of Electronic Resources

INFOhio provides access to thirteen electronic resources for all Ohio preK-12 schools, as well as home access for students, teachers, and parents, across the state - the entire K-12 educational community.

What will you find when using INFOhio's Core Collection?

- Essential online reference tools such as encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases and almanacs.
- Full-text of articles from thousands of journals and magazines, from popular general interest magazines to more specialized scholarly journals.
- Biographies and primary source documents such as speeches, essays, landmark court decisions, and editorials.
- A complete Spanish language encyclopedia
- And much more!

How do you access this wealth of information?

Point your Web browser to www.infohio.org and click on the Core Collection resource buttons.

- You should be able to access all resources from your school.
- If you cannot access the resources, a one-time entry of a username and password is required. This same username/password is used for home access.

Need username and password support?
Schools — Contact the DASite that provides INFOhio services in your region.
www.infohio.org/about/DASite.html
Students and Parents — Students are encouraged to use all of these resources during school and at home with their parents using the Internet. Home use requires a username and password. School library media specialists, classroom teachers, technology coordinators, or administrators can distribute the username and password to students and their parents.

What does accessing INFOhio Electronic Resources cost you?
Absolutely nothing. All public and non-public preK-12 schools, educators, students and their parents across Ohio have unlimited use of these resources free of charge. The State of Ohio funds INFOhio to purchase these online resources for Ohio schools through June 2005.
