School Librarians: Your Call to Action

Librarians are an essential part of any community. By familiarizing yourself with the available funding, you can assist administrators in the daunting task of quickly and efficiently identifying available funds and programs that can improve the educational experience of all your students. As you consider your budgets for 2009-2010, keep in mind that you can split costs of products by using federal dollars to pay for some buildings and district dollars to pay for the rest.
