Christopher Columbus

In the late 1400's, millions of American Indians lived in North and South America. However, most Europeans living across the Atlantic Ocean did not even know that the Americas existed. Due to the efforts of Christopher Columbus, they soon would find out about a whole "New World." Columbus made a daring voyage that changed history. In time, it resulted in important exchanges between the Eastern and Western hemispheres.

Extension Activity 1: Crew member's journal entry

Columbus's first expedition to America took about two months to travel from Spain to the Caribbean. The members of the expedition did not have the modern conveniences or modern communication devices that we have today. They left a European city and traveled to an unknown land without knowing what they would find.

Imagine that you are part of the crew on one of Columbus's ships. Write an entry of several paragraphs in your personal journal or diary describing your experiences. You might describe how it feels to be at sea, cut off from the rest of the known world. You might write about your expectations and fears concerning the journey, or your feelings upon encountering an unknown land and people. Use facts from the World Book article, as well as your imagination, to describe the journey.

Extension Activity 2: Taíno bill of rights

An age of European exploration began in the early 1400's. During this period, European explorers encountered various native peoples in the lands they explored. Unfortunately, the Europeans often mistreated and took advantage of these peoples. Like other explorers, Christopher Columbus and the members of his expeditions mistreated the native Taíno people they found in the Caribbean region. For example, they captured some Taíno and brought them back to Spain to show to the king and queen. They enslaved the Taíno and forced them to work. They also attacked and punished the Taíno when they would not cooperate with the European settlers.

Imagine that your job is to protect the Taíno and their way of life. Write a short bill of rights that provides protections and liberties for the Taíno and that prevents them from being mistreated by foreigners. For help, you can look at the World Book articles titled "Civil rights" and "Bill of rights."

Answers:

1. Christopher Columbus achieved fame by sailing across the Atlantic Ocean from Europe.
2. Columbus was not the first European to reach the Western Hemisphere. The Vikings reached North America about A.D. 1000.
3. In the 1400's, Europeans were seeking a sea route to Asia because the Ottomans had taken over Constantinople and threatened European's land access to Asia.
4. Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa, Italy.
5. False. Columbus's father did not push him to work on fishing boats. He pushed him into a business career.
6. Columbus made his first documented sea voyage in the mid-1470's.
7. In 1476, Columbus settled in a Genoese colony in Lisbon, Portugal.
8. In the late 1400's, the Portuguese wanted to obtain gold, silk, gems, and spices from the Indies.
9. Columbus proposed reaching the Indies by sailing due west.
10. False. Columbus based his belief that the world was mostly land on a map by Ptolemy, not Strabo.
11. King John II refused to fund Columbus's first journey because a royal council believed Columbus had greatly underestimated the length of the journey.
12. The Spanish monarchs were open to Columbus's plan because it could give them an advantage over Portugal in the race to Asia. Columbus also told the intensely religious monarchs that he would use the proceeds from his trip to further Christian enterprises against the Muslims.
13. False. Columbus's first voyage westward set out from Spain on Aug. 3, 1492, not Oct. 12, 1492.
14. Columbus used a method of navigation known as dead reckoning.
15. Historians are not sure where Columbus's expedition first landed.
16. Columbus called the island inhabitants he encountered Indians because he believed he had reached the East Indies.
17. The Taíno people were skilled farmers who made cotton cloth, grouped their dwellings into villages, and had well developed social and governmental systems.

20. Columbus began his journey from Palos, Spain.
21. In February of 1493, Columbus's ships were separated by a storm.
22. Columbus's second expedition included colonists, investors, and friars who were missionaries.

23. Columbus declared that Cuba was the Asian mainland.
24. The settlers from Columbus's second expedition became discontented because they saw that the riches promised by Columbus would not materialize. They also resented taking orders from Columbus, a Genoan, rather than a Spaniard. Later, many settlers disapproved of Columbus appointing his brother Bartholomew as provincial governor of Hispaniola. In addition, some settlers complained about the food that was available. The priests criticized the maltreatment of the Taíno, and the colonists charged Columbus with misgovernment in the colony.
25. Ferdinand and Isabella wanted Columbus to investigate the possibility that the Asian mainland lay south or southwest of the lands he already had explored.
26. America was not named after Columbus, because he failed to acknowledge that he had landed on a new continent. It was named after Amerigo Vespucci, who called America a "New World."
27. False. Columbus did not become the first European to see the Pacific Ocean.
28. Columbus's fourth expedition was marooned on Jamaica for more than a year.
29. Columbus died in Valladolid, Spain.
